Above: The Intramural season starts with football.

Renaissance is more than rebirth — it is new faces and ideas. The presence of two new deans and new faculty members exemplifies this. Arriving with them is the Class of '88.

Restoration has been accomplished through relocating the graduate center and the dean's office, as well as renovating a dorm, building a mall and repurchasing the radio station.

Revival describes the return of spirit to Stetson's students as money for charity was raised above expectations, a fraternity was reborn, and several new organizations were created.

A renaissance has affected Stetson with the arrival of Dean Perkins of the College of Liberal Arts and Dean Wright of the School of Business. Their ideas will greatly influence the school.

The Class of 1988 has arrived at Stetson. By the time these students are seniors, the school will be shaped by their thoughts and actions. Stetson's future leaders are here.

Renaissance also includes the renewed desire for higher education. Stetson's enrollment is higher now than four years ago, and is rising still. This will assure new ideas here.

The literal restoration of Stetson Hall climaxes a series of building renovations. This building, Florida's oldest dorm, has been transformed into a residence comparable to Chaudoin.

In front of Stetson Hall is the new student mall. This park not only enhances the campus but seals off Minnesota Avenue, making the school self-contained.

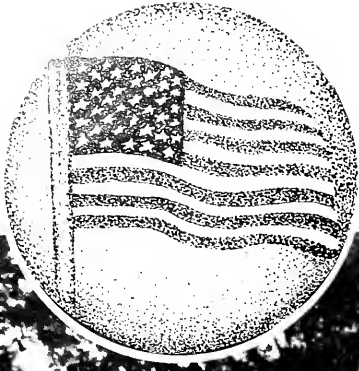

Other forms of restoration include the paving of Chaudoin's parking lot, the creation of a graduate center on Michigan Avenue, and the relocation of Dean Perkins' office.

R

EVIVAL

A resurgence of traditional values marks revival at Stetson. Students are becoming more conservative in political views and lifestyles, and are more interested in politics.

This year Stetson student spirit soared. During Greenfeather, students raised an unprecedented amount of money for charity. Attendance at social and cultural functions is rising.

The revival of Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity is a miracle combination of determination, ingenuity, and planning. The revival is felt by Stetson as the fraternity continues to grow.

Through the arrival of new faces and ideas, changes have taken place and will continue. These changes will improve the university and result in Stetson's renaissance.

Campus improvements have aided in creating a modern university with a traditional atmosphere. This is Stetson in 1985.

The return of traditional standards and spirit has imbued students with a desire for action in their cultural and social pursuits and in their organizations. Stetson has seen a revival.

Above: Two people can always enjoy the swing outside Stetson Hall.

Renaissance has affected Stetson life. Students have experienced a rebirth of the conservative lifestyle, preferring the traditional to the experimental. Political activity is gaining popularity as students register to vote. The school is being reborn with a new mall in front of Stetson Hall.

Restoration is the key word for the renovation of Stetson Hall, complete with matching siding, air conditioning, and wood trim. The President's house has also been restored, with the replacement of the columns. Parking was improved with the paving of Chaudoin's parking lot.

Revival says it all for the rebirth of Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity at Stetson after a year spent in limbo. Stover Theatre has witnessed a revival of classical drama this year with both Roman Comedy and Melodrama.

Each year, new students add to this Renaissance, Restoration, and Revival.

STUDENT LIFE

OCUS

FOCUS Welcomes New Students

FOCUS, for Friend on Campus, is Stetson's orientation program for new students. Completely staffed and operated by students, FOCUS serves to acquaint the incoming freshmen to life at Stetson and provide them with a reference point. The FOCUS advisor is the new student's first friend on campus, introducing him to all aspects of Stetson— academic, social and residential. This year's FOCUS Co-Chairmen, Jenni Paquette and Dave Ragan, and the whole FOCUS staff worked hard to create the most successful week ever.

The first week is FOCUS week. Students attend workshops, meet with FOCUS advisors, and attend various social events. Among these are the first-ever "Indoor Street Dance," the annual Luau, and the Beach party. FOCUS lasts only a week, but the friendships that are made during that week last for years.

USH

Rush Gets The Most Ever

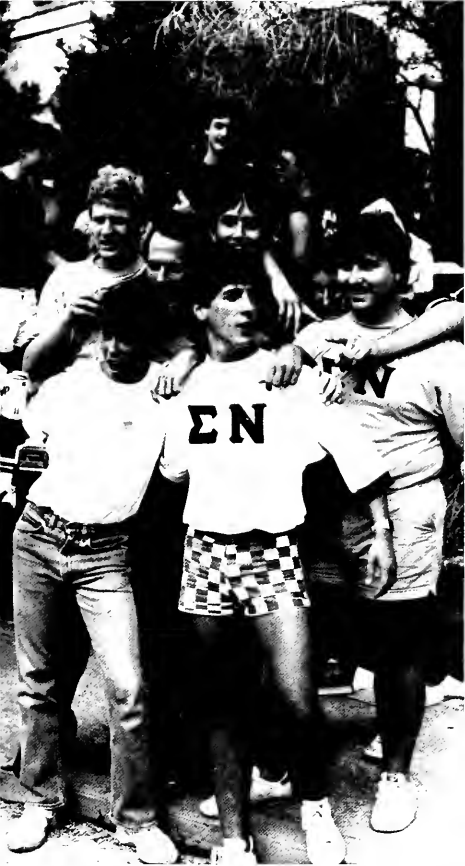

Greek Organizations are a major part of Stetson and form an important aspect of many students' lives. Rush is the way to join a Greek organization. Interfraternity Council and Panhellenic Rush are the students' means to become acquainted with fraternities and sororities. It is a chance to make new friends. It is a chance to find one's niche in Greek life.

Fraternity and Sorority membership is not the most important aspect of student's lives. It does give the student a chance to grow, experience leadership, and attain a sense of sisterhood and brotherhood.

This year, Interfraternity Council and Panhellenic held highly successful Rushes. Over one hundred forty women pledged sororities and one hundred eighty men pledged fraternities.

G REENFEATHER

Greenfeather A Great Success

For an entire week in October, Stetson's attention is turned to raising money for charity in a philanthropic event known as Greenfeather. This year, Greenfeather was chaired by Marcie Groover and Bill Nieporte and raised over $10,000 through student and faculty support.

Both students and faculty supported the Rock-a-thon, Mr. Beauty Contest, Chalk Art, Talent Show, the climactic Carnival, and the Fund Run.

I NTRAMURAL COMPETITION

Intramural Sports Competition is a far-reaching extracurricular activity at Stetson. Intramurals are played everywhere — from the Edmunds Center to Emily Field to the Soccer Field. Eighty-two percent of all Stetson students participate in one way or another in Intramurals.

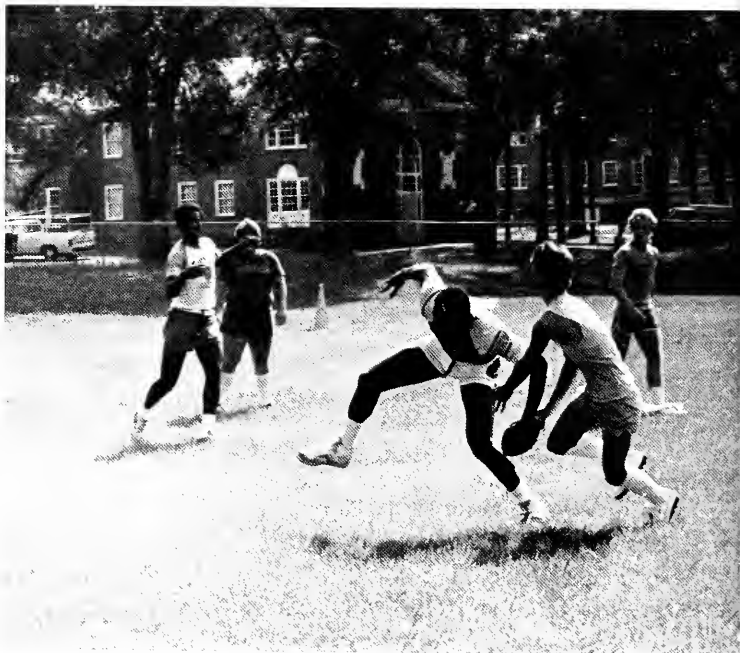

Competition for men includes the team sports of flag football, volleyball, basketball, and softball. Individual sports range from racquetball to ping-pong. Participation in Intramurals provides a needed release of energy everyday.

Above: Fall is flag football season for the men, and tough one-on-one play is common.

Above: All alone and heading for the goal line!

I NTRAMURAL COMPETITION

Intramural Competition for women is no less vital or important. Teams from the seven sororities and the "Indies", a group of non-Greek women, compete throughout the year. Team sports include volleyball, flag football, softball, and basketball. Individual sports include the standard assortment plus gymnastics, track and field, and swimming.

The spirit of competition is evident, but what is most important in women's intramurals is to have fun. It's not that you win or lose; it's how you play the game!

STYLE

Old fads become New Trends

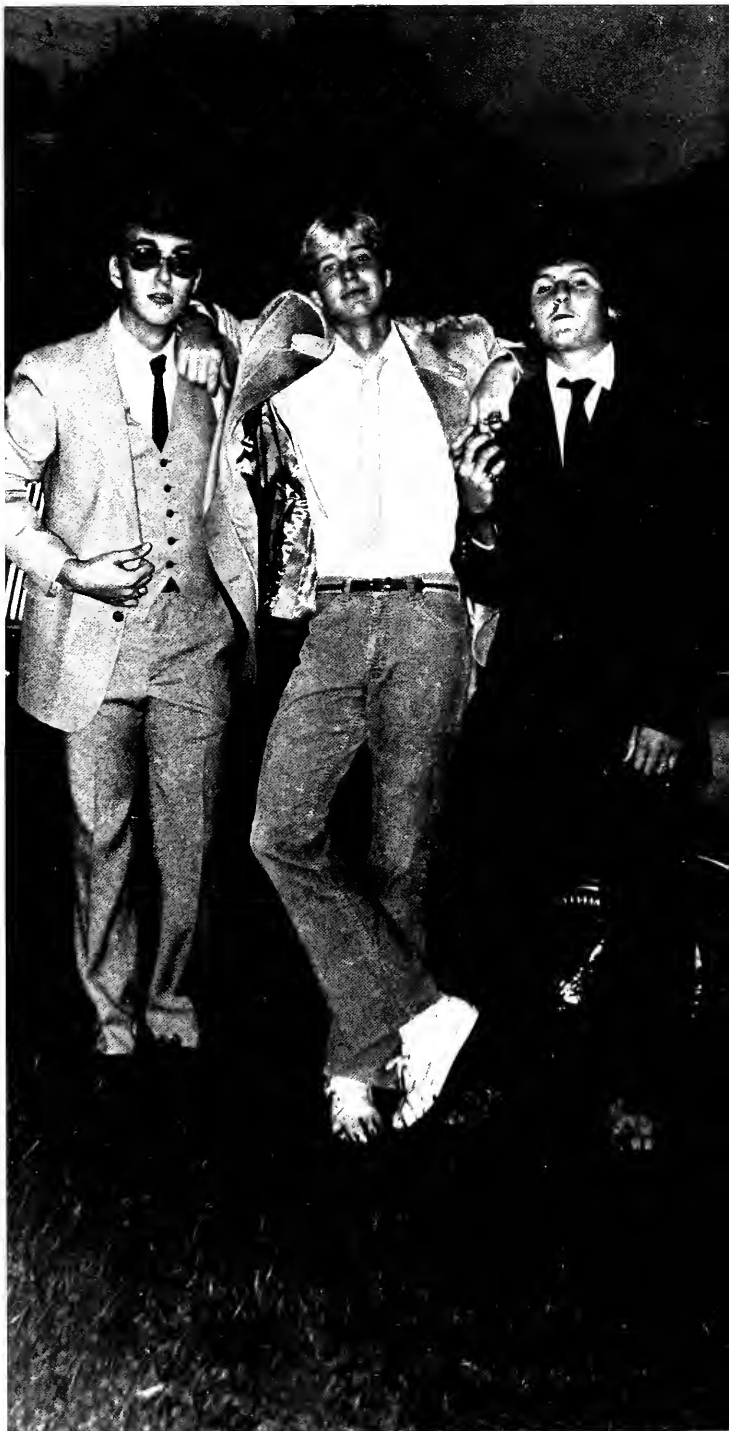

Five or six years ago, most people would probably have laughed at the thought of 1950's sunglasses ever becoming a trend. The same goes for ducktail haircuts (with longer tails), mini-skirts, skinny ties, Republicanism, political involvement, and beach cruiser bicycles.

If that seems like an odd combination, think about it. Stetson has seen a revival of interest in fads of the past like mini-skirts and sunglasses. These have certainly been updated, but the base of most of the trends of "our style" harken back to old fads . . . the best and worst.

Above: The girls on RA Tina DeWolfe's hall know what kind of man Tina likes, so they got her one for her birthday.

N-CAMPUS RELAXATION

More Than Books

"There's more to Stetson than books," says Jayne Marlowe, Director of Student Life. Without the various relaxation facilities on campus, students could easily become crazed by hours of Accounting, History, Music; whatever! Stetson has its very own game room, ample space for biking and napping, and the CUB circle where students can observe the goings-on . . .

FF-CAMPUS

Off-Campus Attractions

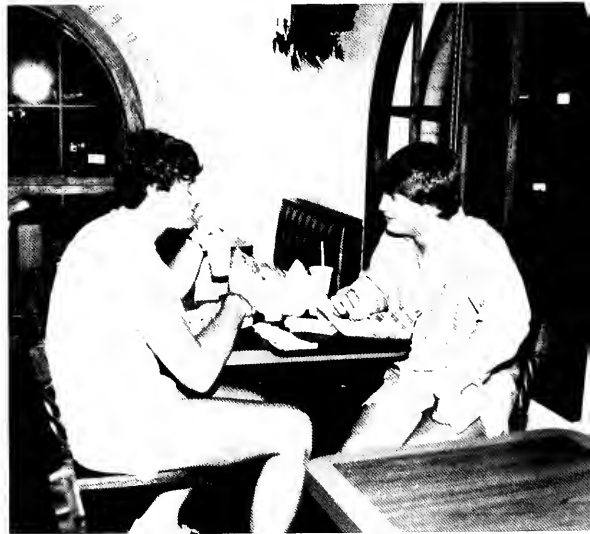

Whether it be for a Friday night out-on-the-town or a fifteen minute break from studying, students always found a place to get away from it all. Nearby Daytona and New Smyrna Beaches offered a convenient way to spend a sunny Saturday, and Orlando always boasted a lively night spot. Here in Deland, the Athens Theatre showed an endless array of Wednesday night flicks. Lucky Pierres, Frapps, "Reds," McCabes, Summerdales and many more provided ways to relax and converse. And, of course, to get away from the monotony, a local restaurant was always nearby for refreshing food and drink. For that little extra spending money, a part-time job off-campus proved very rewarding.

INTER TERM

A Time To Explore

Winter Term at Stetson . . . from classroom to concert hall, students experience in these four weeks of "mini-mester" what it is often difficult to experience in an entire semester.

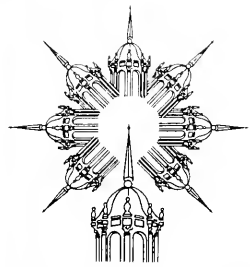

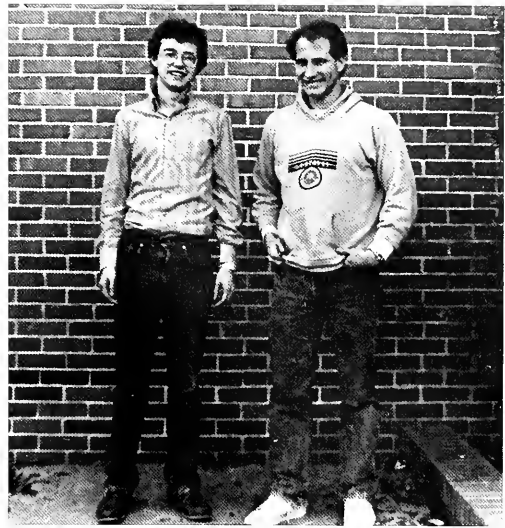

The theme for 1985, "Education and a Better World: Learning and Responsibility," lent itself naturally to the exploration of topics ranging from the threat of nuclear war to the role of government in education. Capping the month was the Vote on Values, in which Stetsonites ranked their values.

Above: One of the highlights of the 1985 Winter Term was the appearance of Florida Governor Bob Graham, who delivered a lecture entitled, "Social Responsibility in Education." The Governor then answered questions from a noteworthy panel of questioners.

GA

The Student Government Association at Stetson has worked hard for the campus this year. To give Stetson an added publicity boost, the SGA installed a sign on Highway 92. To help students who need rides on holidays, the SGA placed a travel board outside the Hat Rack. Other added conveniences students enjoy include a phone in the library and a teller machine to be installed in the CUB. The SGA has also seen to it that the Hatter Bookstore honors checks up to $50.00.

TETSON UNION BOARD

SUB Brings Entertainment To Students

With a sizeable budget and a dedicated staff, the Stetson Union Board takes on the job of keeping student life exciting. With tireless dedication, those on the SUB provide Stetson students with Friday Flicks in the Stetson Room, Stetson Night at the Athens (SNATA), and Happy Hours with free food. Added to these regularly-scheduled events are the Top Hat Entertainment series, concerts featuring major artists such as Survivor and Air Supply, and periodic camping trips and outings.

The SUB also sponsors many activity-oriented events for Stetson students. Among these is Stetson's one and only pep rally, Hatter Sports Nite. Sports Nite offers friendly competition among fraternities, sororities, and independent organizations. This year's winners were Sigma Phi Epsilon, Phi Mu, and Emily Hall.

Home Is Where the Hats Are

During the last weekend in February, Stetson University — now 102 years old — welcomed home alumni. Students past and present enjoyed a multitude of activities. Reunion, Sports, and Prayer Breakfasts were offered to all, in addition to various barbecues and banquets. Particularly popular was Saturday's luncheon in the Forest of Arden. On Friday and Saturday nights, the culturally-minded were treated to a rousing English version of Mozart's Don Giovanni. On Saturday night, loyal Hatters cheered on the basketball team against the Knights of UCF. Homecoming King and Queen were crowned at the basketball game, the finalists having been announced the night before at the Homecoming Dance. Stetson students from all ages enjoyed these activities and thrived on seeing old friends again.

TUDY

Improving the Mind

Amid the flurry of eating, partying, and scoping, some serious students may be found perusing textbooks. Of course, the Library is a popular place for study (of both school subjects and members of the opposite sex). However, a few enterprising students find other study refuges. The Commons, dorm rooms, and classrooms are some of the indoor alternatives. On those too-good-to-stay-inside kind of days, many students go to the Forest of Arden or the kiosk "mounds" to study.

Hatter Sports Are Rebuilding

The Intercollegiate Athletics program at Stetson has matured and expanded in the last ten years. In 1976, the J. Ollie Edmunds Center was dedicated. With this new gym as a pivot point the program has grown until the men's basketball team is part of a newly forming conference. Stetson could soon be playing UCLA on national television.

Most of the major teams have new coaches and staffs. Women's basketball and softball, men's volleyball, wrestling, soccer and golf all have new coaches. The men's basketball team has new assistant members to the coaching staff. New equipment, courts and fields will help these new coaches in training their teams.

The majority of team members are lower classmen. In fact, only two members of the men's basketball team are upperclassmen. This means the teams will be around for several more years. Stetson's athletics is rapidly reaching major national proportions.

VOLLEYBALL

Lady Hats Renew Attack

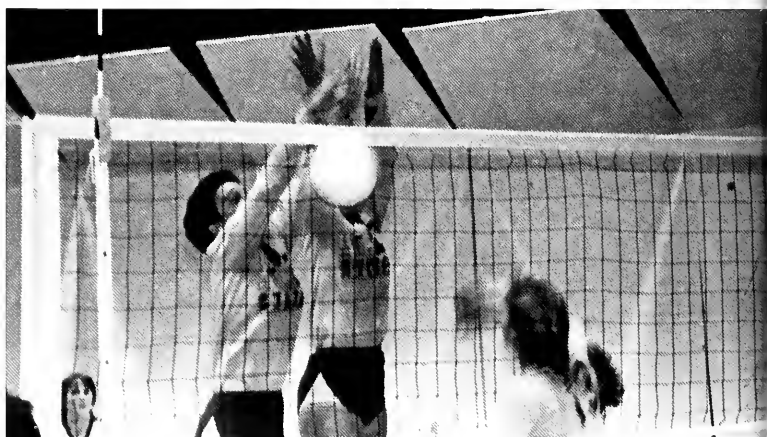

Stetson's Women's Volleyball team had a highly successful year and is rising to a new level of excellence. With eight lower classmen and four upperclassmen, including a freshman starting setter, it is a highly talented team. Coached by Dr. Elizabeth Schumaker who is in her sixth year of coaching the team, they are running offense and defense never before dreamed of here.

The team is playing on its new court in the Edmunds Center. Plagued by injuries, the team closed with a record of 16-21. They played far better than last year despite youth and inexperience. These ladies are on the rise.

"We had a really exciting year! We had much more talent and were able to compete in a much tougher schedule. We played much better than the record shows."

SOCCER

Rebuilding Hatter Style

Mike Parsons, in his second year as head of the Stetson Soccer Program, has made many changes. With a team consisting of twenty freshmen, Parsons has a lot of building to do. He got everything you could expect from his team which usually started eight or nine freshmen a game. His team is definitely young, but has a lot of time to work together, gaining experience along the way. The team's strength will come from the freshmen in the future years. To sum it up — just wait 'till next year.

"Disappointing as far as the win/loss, but very productive as far as individual player development."

Mike Parsons

BASKETBALL

LADY HATS

REBUILDING

The 1984-85 squad can be described in just one word . . . Freshmen! Nine freshmen have been added to the team. Two special freshmen, Head Coach Nancy Nichols and Assistant Coach Mike Furnas, have masterminded the Hatter attack. Five returning players provide experience and leadership to the effort.

The Lady Hatters have worked hard to gain the respect of their competitors, as well as a reputation for aggressive basketball. The outlook for this team is very positive and the reasons are simple: Hard work, dedication, and defense!

"My team is a young team that has worked hard and hopefully will show some success at the end of the year!"

BASKETBALL

STETSON HATTERS REVISE SPIRIT

Excitement is synonymous with Stetson Basketball. Coach Wilkes is in the process of rebuilding the excitement his team generates on campus. With the graduation of Jorge Fernandez and Tim Shuler, the coaching staff has already begun the restoration process. This year's team has four freshmen Coach Wilkes will work into his program. The strength of the returning players, coupled with knowledge of the coaching staff, means another season of excitement. This year's coaching staff has two new assistants, Terry Butterfield and Mike Herman, who are capable assistants to the man in charge: Glenn Wilkes.

"Nothing in the world is more common than talented athletes who have failed to become successful athletes. The only way to reach the top as a basketball player is through long hours of hard work."

BASKETBALL

"I've enjoyed my experiences here at Stetson both on and off the court. I am grateful to the Lord because without him none of my good fortune would have been possible."

Jorge Fernandez

"Basketball has helped make me a more sociable and creative individual. Playing basketball at Stetson has been a great opportunity. I love the fans! Go Stetson!"

CHEERLEADING

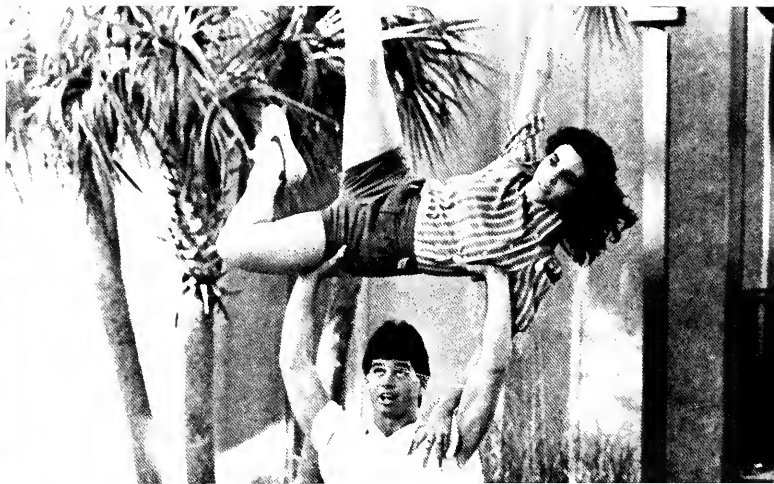

Cheerleaders Build Spirit

Spirit is what the Hatter Cheerleaders promote most, it is what they are best at doing. Their lively cheers and wonderful stunts are enough to raise anyone's spirit. The cheerleaders spend hours practicing their cheers and working on those very eye-catching pyramids. What looks like a lot of fun and really easy, actually takes much skill, strength and like anything else — practice. This year's squad of cheerleaders has done much for the Hatter Basketball fans' spirit. An addition to the fun comes in the form of the Mad Hatter. Our own mascot now roams the stands and helps to make each and every exciting home Basketball game fun for one and all!

"Tony Guzzetta and Dolly Dollison have been partners for three years now and are always right on top of things."

TENNIS

Lady Netters Revive Style

Women's Tennis at Stetson has long had a tradition of Success. This year will be no exception. Following in the lead of last year's Sharon Swanbery, who captured All-American and ITCA Player of the year awards, will be a team of very talented young women. Coach Vicky Pate is enthusiastic for this season and hopes to bring home a national trophy to add to her team's many achievements.

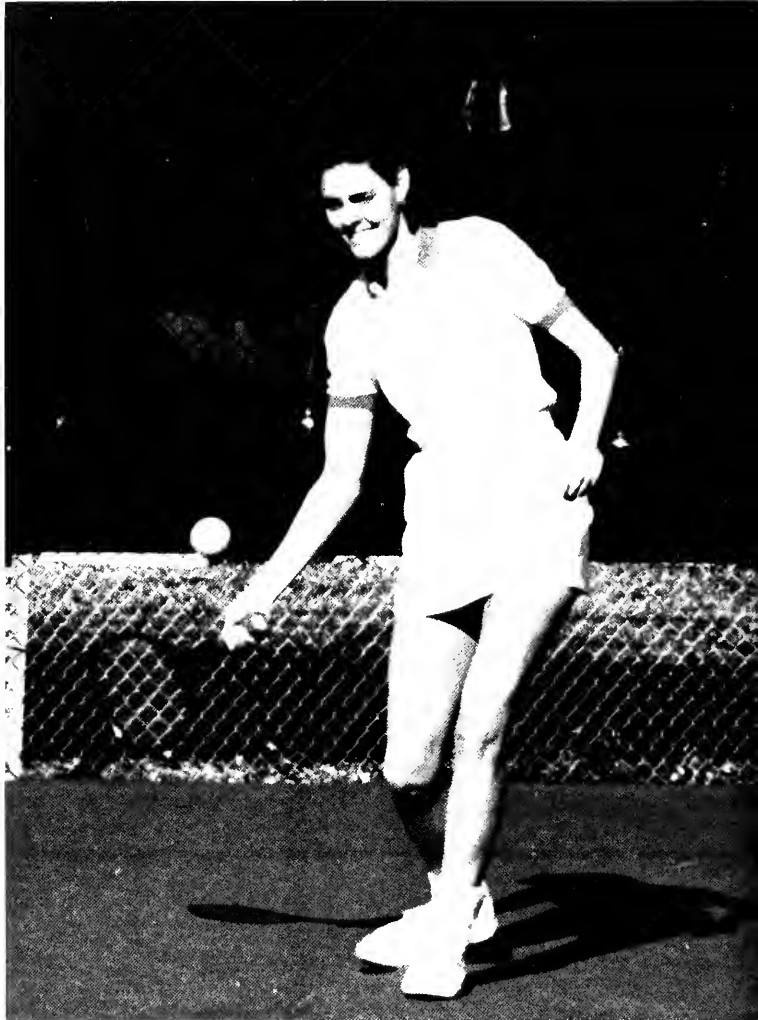

Coach Pate has only one senior this year, Mary Lou Herman, who has played three years at Stetson. There are six freshman on the team, who should be able to keep up the Hatter Netter's tradition. Rounding out the line-up are three returning players, Edie Anderson, Lisa Waring and Donna Carriques, and transfer student Whitney Bales.

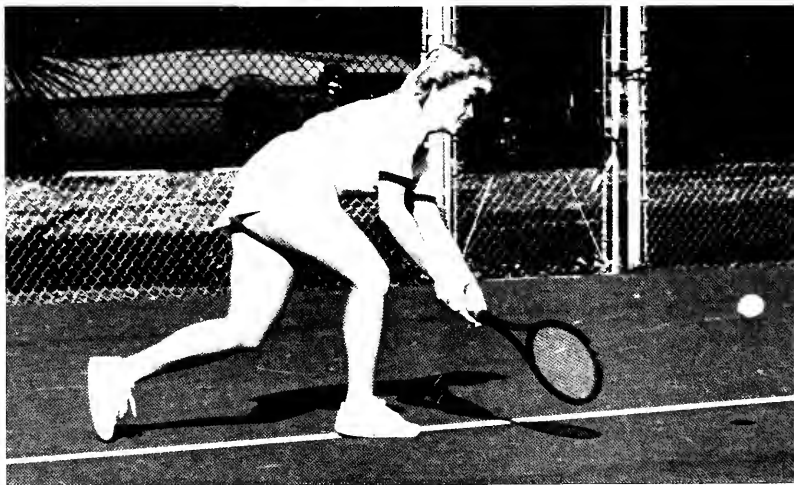

With a record like these women have, only polish will add shine to their rebuilding.

"This team's prospects for nationals are excellent! The aim is to bring back that trophy!"

TENNIS

Men's Tennis Style Reborn

Since last year's team had a lot of new faces, Coach Ray Hussey had the task of taking their talent to build the strength of this year's team. Because of the dedication of the squad, a successful season is expected. Now seasoned veterans, team members have their own goals to strive for. Coach Hussey has seven returning lettermen, but two of his freshmen may make it into the starting lineup. Much luck goes to the men's team during a very tough season schedule.

"I think that we will have better than a .500 year. We play a tough NCAA Division 1 schedule this year. I have a better nucleus of returning players, hoping for a banner year!"

Coach Ray Hussey

BASEBALL

Baseball— Hatter Style

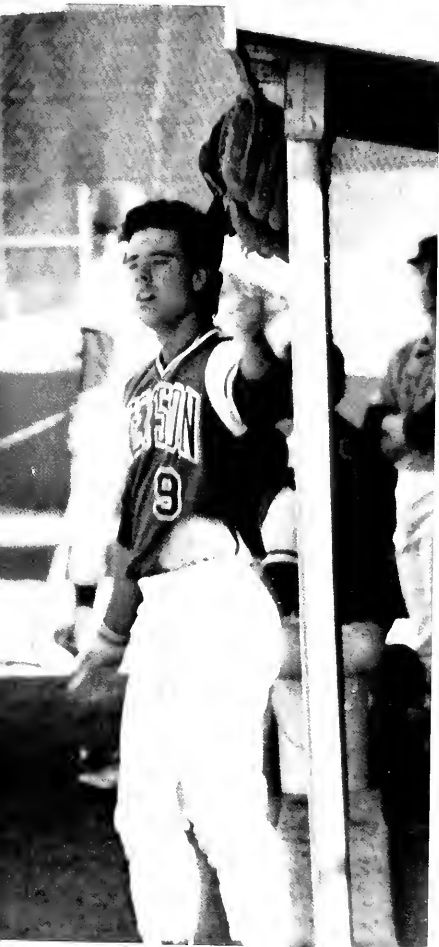

Baseball Coach Pete Dunn has a good nucleus of returning players. The coaching staff of Rick Hall and Terry Tolbert had a good recruiting year and added five freshmen to their dug out. Stetson baseball has always had a winning tradition associated with its name. Stetson has been fortunate in the last few years and has seen the Hatter ball club compete in the NCAA Tournament. Hatters could always take a break from studying on spring afternoons and nights to relax in the bleachers of Conrad Park and watch the baseball action.

"We hope these players will enable us to not only continue to help us battle for an NCAA Tourney bid, but will ultimately help us win a tournament."

SOFTBALL

Fastpitch A New Era!

This is a transition year for our softball team. Stetson has finally made it to fastpitch! All of the returning players were willing to learn the new sport. The newcomers had already experienced the excitement of fastpitch. Overall the team has solid skills and the desire to succeed, which should produce a winning season. The coaching staff of Maria Albano, Chris Ramer, Mike Furnas and volunteer Jeff Caglione is also experiencing its first chance to coach at the college level. Come on out and support our Lady Hatters in an exciting new game!

"We have a small group of girls being introduced to a brand new sport, and it takes a lot of hard work. We should have a lot of fun though!"

VOLLEYBALL

New Talent Renews Hatters

For the third year in a row, Dr. Elizabeth Schumaker has taken on the dual role of coaching the men's and women's volleyball teams. Made up of a few veterans from last year's team, some talented basketball players and the intramural stars, the team built by Coach Schumaker is very competitive. The men's volleyball team is quite impressive to watch, and hopes to be a powerhouse of volleyball in the South. With any luck at all, the men's schedule will include more home tournaments. Look for them!

"Lots of enthusiasm and lots of new faces who have much to learn. It should be an interesting season. We anticipate a successful season, despite our youth."

Dr. Elizabeth Schumaker

GOLF

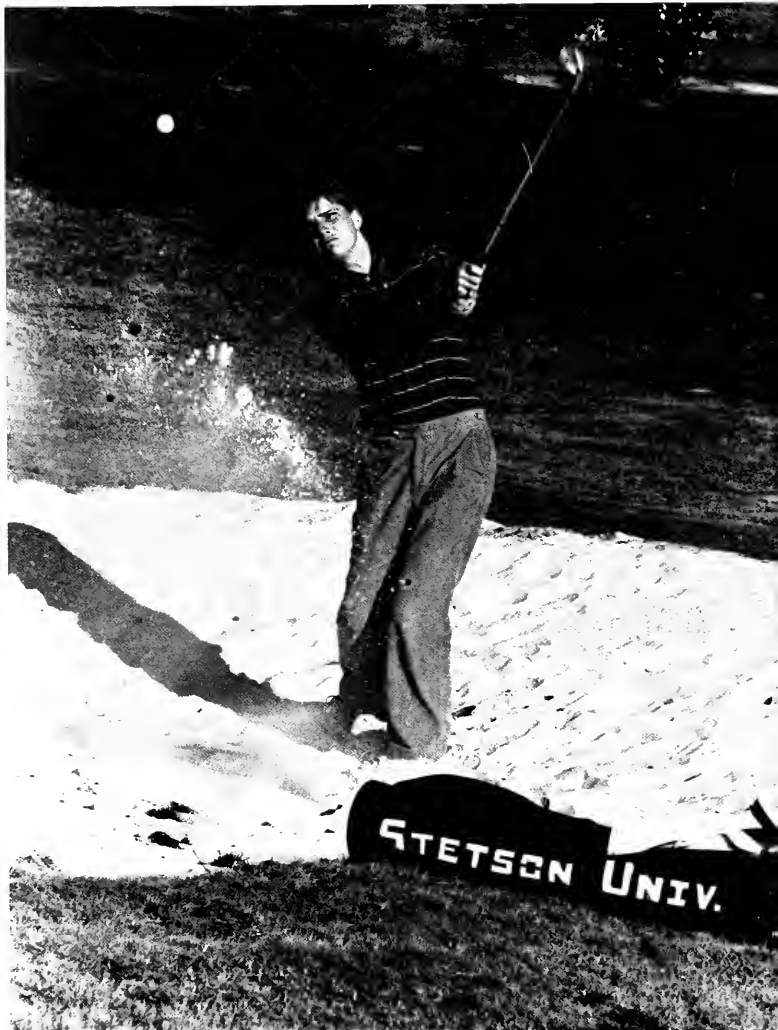

Hatters Right On Par

Like many of the sports on campus, the Golf team also has a new coach this year. Mike O'Sullivan has been associated with professional golf for 17 years and he brings his knowledge to the Hatter Greens. The team is led by sharp shooters Brad Parsons and Tom Bryant. Coach O'Sullivan likes his team to put all they have into the game. One thing to look forward to is the institution of a women's team.

"All I want my guys to do when they walk off the course, regardless of what they shot — I want them to be able to say that they did their best for that day."

Coach Mike O'Sullivan

WRESTLING

THE DREAM CONTINUES!

What began last year with Pete Starsons' dream is now in its second year. That dream continues under the coaching of John Hauser, another new face on the Hatter coaching staff. There is lots of talent on those wrestling mats this year. What makes Coach Hauser happy is that everyone will be back in 1985-86. The team was plagued for a short while by injuries to many of the grapplers, but Coach Hauser kept them working for those take downs! The grapplers of Stetson go through very rigorous daily workouts, with Coach Hauser working right along with them. Though the team is still quite young, the mat Hatters earned the loyalty of many fans. This varsity sport will be on top in Florida Collegiate Wrestling!

"We went into this year hoping to have a win record over .500, and that dream is a reality. We're looking for bigger and better things."

Coach John Hauser

Brotherhood In Action

Stetson's Greek system offers a chance for students to associate with others who share common interests, ideals and goals. Within this framework, members of sororities and fraternities can experience growth, leadership, and community service. Greek life offers students a chance for an active social life and the opportunity to learn how to work with people in a cohesive group. The Greeks are active in Stetson's campus programs as well. This year they participated in the highly successful Greenfeather Week and held their own Greek Weekend, which raised money for charity and provided a fun time for all. Being Greek is a way of life. In the words of Stephen Vincent Benét, "Grant us brotherhood, not only for this day but for all our years — a brotherhood not of words but of acts and needs."

INTERFRATERNITY COUNCIL

Stetson's Inter-Fraternity Council, made up of two representatives from each fraternity and six elected officers, serves as a liason with the eight fraternities on campus. The faces on the following pages comprise the Stetson student body. Some faces are newer than others. The newer ones arrived from all over expressing anxiety, hope, and a tingling curiosity. Armed with the essentials — a Webster's, a Walkman, and a Teddy Bear — faces will meet other faces and smile and weep and laugh and yawn and do all the silly things that faces are known to do. The older faces exude experience, patience, and laissez-faire. These older ones frown as applications are mailed, interviews are attended, and anxieties are rekindled. And then the older faces leave — to become new friends in an awaiting world. All of these, these faces in the crowd, are Stetson. And they rest on these pages, smiling back at you forever.

The Students Make Stetson

Stetson's organizations and honoraries can be described with the word, "new." With a new sponsor and an influx of talent, the Judo Club underwent a revival. The French Club celebrated its second year at Stetson. The honorary societies sponsored more than just academic activities. Greenfeather raised a record amount for charity. The Reverend Gary Morris, Director of Wesley House, collected nearly $2000 for Oxfam to aid famine-stricken West Africa. Stetson's Student Union Board and Student Government Association provided their constituents fine programs and services.

ORGANIZATIONS

CONRAD STAFF

As tradition dictates, the staff poses next to its sign.

CHAUDOIN STAFF

Under the leadership of Head Resident Cindy Felberg and her staff, the residents of Chaudoin Hall had a terrific year . . . they managed to survive the noise and excitement of sorority bid day. Chaudoin also sponsored a street dance on a crisp night in November. Pictured here are Cindy Felberg, Melissa Strauch, Beth Forbes, Marilyn Drivas, Kelly Finton, Erin Connors, Mary Owens, and Tina DeWolfe.

The Chaudoin Staff goes out on a limb for its residents!

EMILY STAFF

The residents of Emily Hall enjoy many activities from Progressive Thanksgiving meals to Air Band contests. Emily women also share their time with children from a daycare center. At Emily are found all types of special people from orchestra musicians to basketball players. Together, they make this residence hall a very nice place to live. Staff members include: Meggins Ball (H.R.), and R.A.s Leslie Griffin, Karen Barkley, Ginny Gilliland, Carol Bowling, Andrea McMillan, Vicky Brewer, and Mari Musalen.

STETSON STAFF

Stetson Hall is displaying a new face — completely renovated and looking great. Of course, despite the new outward appearance, residents have maintained a warm, friendly atmosphere. Stetson Hall women have enjoyed many movies in the lobby. They have also held a dance with New Men's. The greatest event was undoubtedly a hall-wide taco salad cooked by an excellent staff.

H.R. Donna Strickland and R.A.s pose in front of all-new Stetson Hall.

CARSON-HOLLIS STAFF

The Carson-Hollis residents have enjoyed many outings. They've canoed, bowled, and donned pajamas for an all-night movie marathon. Carson-Hollis is the only dorm where the lucky men and women reside in close proximity. You won't hear any paging systems in this residence hall! Members of the staff include Head Resident Bill Siciliano, R.A.s Tamara Maule, Tony DeSantis, Betsy Schautz, and Mark Frutchey.

NEW MEN'S STAFF

The New Men's Residence Hall has enjoyed many campus activities this year. They held a Sadie Hawkins dance with Conrad and a video dance with Stetson Hall. With Chaudoin this "enthusiastic" hall held a street dance, complete with popcorn and hot apple cider. New Men's sold the most dorm tickets on campus for Greenfeather, winning a pizza party as a prize. This dorm also won the intramurals championship, and was the first independent team to do so in nearly a decade. Hats off to these Hater residents!

New Men's H.R. and R.A.s pose in the lobby with a friend.

GORDIS STAFF

The Gordis Hall residential life staff meets weekly on Monday nights in the Head Resident's apartment. Known for numerous escapades and the great quantity of wrestlers living there, Gordis does manage to have many fun outings. They had a fall picnic with Stetson Hall and a hall-wide campout in January. Gordis Resident Advisors have had a great year working together with all of the diverse residents. Gordis has been an interesting and lively place to live this year.

LIFE • RESIDENTIAL LIFE • RESIDENTIAL LIFE • RESIDENTIAL LIFE

SMITH STAFF

Despite a lack of air conditioning, Smith Hall residents are proud of their dorm. They also pride themselves on their well-rounded residents who enjoy interests including baseball, soccer, intramurals and (of course) women. Smith Hall is famous for its athletes — especially those baseball and soccer players — but it also boasts some pretty brainy guys. Although cold and austere looking from the outside, the inner halls are filled with the warm Stetson spirit.

BAPTIST CAMPUS MINISTRY

The Baptist Campus Ministry is a campus organization for Baptists and non-Baptists alike. BCM conducts services every Thursday night, preceded by a home-cooked meal. BCM also participates actively in the intramural programs. Off-campus, BCM conducts services for married students, nursing home residents, and other members of the community. Officers include Ricky Howell, President; Cathy Demott, Secretary/Treasurer; Beth Cadwell, Director of Worship; Lewis McMullen, Director of Outreach; Marilyn Metcalf; Debby Black; Tonya Bishop; Terri Reynolds.

RELIGIOUS LIFE COUNCIL

The Religious Life Council consists of representatives of the denominationally sponsored campus ministry organizations (CCM, Canterbury House, Wesley House, BCM, and the Ministerial Association). This group hosts speakers and performers, and presents other programs to help the Stetson student mature spiritually. Activities this year have included the dynamic concert by "Truth," the Raft Debate, and the beloved Christmas tradition of the Yule Log Lighting.

Religious Life Council members pose in front of Elizabeth Hall.

CATHOLIC CAMPUS MINISTRY

Many students belong to the Catholic Campus Ministry. Guided by Deacons Kinsley and Rinderle, the CCM holds activities two times per week. On Thursday nights students ask questions of the deacons. On Sunday afternoons CCM holds mass in the Stetson Room or, weather permitting, the Forest of Arden. Several members of CCM enjoy the unique distinctions of living in the Newman House, which boasts, among other things, a flavorful loft.

CHAPEL CHOIR

About 25 students set the mood for Chapel each Wednesday at 10:00 am by their singing. The Stetson Chapel Choir performs each Wednesday letting their voices free to harmonize on the hymns and lift the spirits of those assembled in Elizabeth Hall Chapel. Although this is their sole purpose, they occasionally perform at other functions outside of the University. The Chapel Choir is directed by Dr. Robert Fort and accompanied by Paul Jenkins on the organ.

CONCERT CHOIR

The 40 member Stetson Concert Choir sings a variety of music from Renaissance to twentieth century, both sacred and secular. Under the direction of Dr. Robert Rich, the singing group hit the Sun Coast in February when they played up and down Florida's west coast. Each Christmas, the choir performs a Christmas concert for the Stetson community and each spring the singing ensemble takes to the road to perform on their spring tour. The ensemble practices seven hours for two weeks as a group.

WIND ENSEMBLE

Stetson's Wind Ensemble consists of non-music majors as well as music majors. Students from all majors are eligible for wind ensemble scholarships as long as they play well enough and agree to be a part of the Stetson Wind Ensemble. Wind Ensemble gives students an opportunity for a diverse musical experience. This arrangement of woodwinds presents many concerts throughout the year performing a varied repertoire from Bach to twentieth century. New music professor Thomas Sleeper conducts the Wind Ensemble.

ORCHESTRA

In addition to conducting the Wind Ensemble, Thomas Sleeper also conducts the Stetson Orchestra. The Stetson Orchestra consists of approximately 30 Stetson students and community members who must audition to become members. The orchestra members play a considerable repertoire of difficult classical music, performing all throughout the academic year both here on campus and on tour. One of their most notable performances this year was their performance of Handel's Messiah produced in conjunction with the Choral Union.

JAZZ ENSEMBLE

The Stetson Jazz Ensemble gives many concerts during the school year on campus in Elizabeth Hall and the Edmunds Center in addition to concerts performed off campus. Not only do music and non-music majors constitute the Jazz Ensemble, but also alumni and community members. They perform everything from blues, be-bop, and big band to swing and modern jazz. Director Timothy Maloney conducts the ensemble as well as performs a few numbers now and then with his student musicians.

PEP BAND

The combination woodwind, brass, electric guitar and percussion ensemble led by Kevin Baisley is one of the most active musical groups on campus. The Hatter Pep Band lends their talents at every home basketball game to provide Hatters with both the Hatter pep song and a variety of popular music. Baisley has recently restructured the band and it now falls under the auspices of Student Affairs. This musical ensemble, probably more than any other on campus, brings together a variety of students from all corners of the campus.

MEN'S CHORUS

Men's Chorus, under the direction of Robert Rich, meets twice a week, bringing both music majors and non-music majors to Presser Hall. They perform one time each semester. They also play at the Christmas Chapel service along with the concert choir and women's chorus. The 15 member all-male chorus performs a range of music from early American folk to twentieth century English operetta to spiritual. New members are always welcome to join Men's Chorus as it is a class that is open to the University.

Dr. Ann Small leads the 18 member Women's Chorus to produce a euphony of sounds. As the men's chorus class, women's chorus is open to all University students and performs several concerts a year, presenting two fall concerts, two spring concerts and performing at the Christmas Chapel service. Women's chorus performs mainly classical and folk music. The women sing major works written specifically for women's voices. This harmonious group of women is accompanied by Daniel Hernandez on piano.

PUBLICATIONS

The Reporter is the official voice of the Stetson campus. Throughout the week, staff members scramble for stories and advertisements. Then on Thursday night, the time-honored tradition of printing occurs. The next morning, to the queries of "Is it this week's paper?", the hardworking staff distributes copies of the paper throughout campus. Fun? You bet!

REPORTER

The Touchstone is the creative outlet for frustrated business majors, overworked English majors — and all other would-be authors on campus. The staffers on the literary magazine gather students' short stories, essays, poetry, drawings and photos. Then, the staff decides which submissions will be included for publication. Donations from the Stetson community make Touchstone possible.

TOUCHSTONE

The Hatter yearbook records a year's worth of college experiences. A yearbook is more than the volume you are holding — it is the core of people on staff who take and develop photos, who write the captions, and more. The Hatter makes a special effort to include all official activities and organizations on campus in the publication. And, of course, faculty and students are included, too.

HATTER

PUBLICATIONS

The three publications have at least one common goal — to create something for the students of Stetson. There are struggles and conflicts that all must overcome, and in the process, each organization knows that it must be supportive of the other two. Many staff members overlap and lend their talents and time to two or three of the publications. Most students do not realize the time and effort that staff members put into each. The “all nighter” becomes a familiar term for some. Classes fall by the wayside. But, when the Reporter, Touchstone and Hatter hit the presses, each individual staffer knows that she or he has done her or his part to make the system work.

COMMONWEALTH

The Student Government Association consists of two major office-holders and 25 members with open seats. Elections for these positions occur during the spring. Bill Cumbie served as president this year, while Drew Severence was vice-president. The SGA meets every week to discuss issues of importance to the Stetson community. An improvement of student life has been a major goal.

SGA

The Stetson Union Board consists of four major offices determined by spring elections. Chairpeople are determined by the members of SUB themselves. This year's office-holders include: Helena Dabrowski, president; Gina Bettis, vice-president; Dawn Williams, treasurer; Bonnie Boyd, secretary. All of these people plus the chairpeople help make many of Stetson's activities happen.

SUB

Stetson's Judiciary Council consists of male and female members of every class. The Judiciary Council meets when students want to present their sides of a campus infraction /conflict. Most cases involve traffic violations of one sort or another. Members of the Judiciary Council strive to resolve any legal entanglements in as fair a manner as possible.

PROVOST

Denton Coker

"The single, greatest purpose of a higher education is to help students develop to their highest potential — everything else — academic, athletic, extracurricular, spiritual activities should support this."

"As chief academic officer, I must be sure the teaching/learning process is the best we can develop to help students reach their educational goals."

"The only truly educated man is the man with a liberal arts education, that is the base for any professional or vocational education."

School of Music

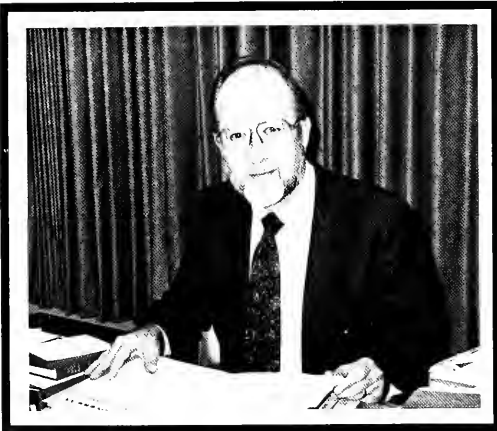

Dean Paul Langston

Dr. Paul Langston describes his 21 years as Dean of the School of Music as a time of "change — not a long list of accomplishments."

"Stetson is a place where a good education in Music is available. My time as dean was a matter of tending the objectives and reputation of the school as they were set by those before me."

Langston's list of accomplishments includes the addition of a guitar program, the musical theatre major, a new music building and changes and additions in courses and their content.

His "Petros," an oratorio about the life of the Apostle Peter, debuted during Stetson's Centennial year, 1983. It was then Langston made the decision to return to teaching where he would have more time to spend instructing and composing.

"I miss the students and I miss the chance to compose. Someone else can handle the paperwork. I am a teacher."

He graduated from Stetson, having been active in student publications, drama productions, Delta Sigma Phi fraternity, and many other activities. He served Stetson University as President from 1947 to 1967. His administration was highlighted by the rise in national prominence of Stetson. Upon his resignation, he accepted the office of Chancellor, and he held that position until his death in 1984.

Upon his resignation of the Presidency, he said, "I must make clear to my staff, colleagues and students that my leaving will not affect my love and concern for the University. I hope to prove that this love and concern for my foster mother continues, real and genuine."

... He will be missed

"HOME IS WHERE THE HATS ARE."

A black and white photograph of two women sitting at a table. The woman on the left has dark hair and is wearing a light-colored top. The woman on the right has dark hair and is wearing a striped shirt. They are both looking towards the camera. In front of them is a large banner with the word 'STETSON' in large, bold, white letters on a dark background. The background of the photo shows a window with blinds and some office equipment.

Even when you leave here, Stetson will never leave you. Coming back often is a good way to stay in touch. And, when you are out there making your contribution to the world, send one back to Stetson for those who will follow you here.

There are three more people who I feel need to be thanked before this book draws to a close. These three people are one of the main reasons that I have enjoyed Stetson and will continue to remember these days as my college days. Sheila, whom I rented my first refrigerator from; Rodney, whom I first ran a spotlight for (at Stetson); and Jayne, who first got me involved in yearbook. These are my "big three" to remember here at Stetson and I sincerely hope that all of you have a "big three" or even a "big four" to remember, also. Thanx,

Ben
